East Stroudsburg Merchants Form Tobyhanna Days Group

EAST STROUDSBURG Merchants Association last night formed a special committee to work on preparations for "Tobyhanna Days" May 11 and 12.

Hanford L. Cleveland, association president, named four men to the committee. Selected were: Leon Koster, chairman; Herman Smeltz Jr., Don Heller and Ralph Lesone.

Cleveland named the committee at a special meeting of the group. There were 35 members and guests present. Special guests were members of the borough council: Burgess Jesse S. Flory; Sterling Cramer, borough secretary and Walter S. Peeney, Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce president.

Cooperation Noted

In behalf of the merchants, Cleveland expressed gratitude for the great sense of cooperation and good feeling toward local businessmen shown by the borough council. This atmosphere of cooperation has gone far toward building a stronger and better community, he said.

Roy Lloyd, council president, then thanked the merchants for their cooperation and concern for the betterment of the community. "We are back of you 100 percent in anything you do within our power. We would like, also, at this moment, to thank Sterling Cramer for the good job he is doing for the council," Lloyd said.

Burgess Flory stressed the fact that businessmen could be very proud of the type of men they have elected to the council, from the job council has been doing for the borough. He also praised the contribution by the merchants of all money usually used for Christmas lighting to the borough's playground reconstruction project.

$100 To Project

Ted Vichniak, a member of the association, appeared as a representative of a group of teen-agers at St. Matthew's R. C. Church, to present a check for $100 given to the reconstruction project.

Peeney outlined the functions of the Chamber and pledged constant cooperation between that group and merchants in the area.

Myers Denies Being Red

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Fred Myers, former newsman who now is executive director of the National Humane Society, swore today he never was a member of the Communist party.

Myers told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that New York Times reporter Clayton Knowles was "in error" in saying at a hearing last January that he had known him as a Communist.

At a subcommittee hearing on Jan. 4, Knowles was asked if he had known Fred Meyer (sic) as a member of the Communist party.

"Yes, I did," Knowles replied. Knowles testified that he had made the "bad mistake" of joining the Communist party in 1937 and had quit some time in the spring of 1939.

Despite the difference in the spelling of the name, Meyer and Myers, there seemed to be no confusion of identity. Knowles referred to Meyer as a former chairman of the American Newspaper Guild unit of the New York Daily Mirror, a post Myers testified he held in 1935-37.

Court Believes Drinker's Story

WINDSOR, Ont., March 15 (AP)—A Windsor driver said in Police Court today he couldn't have been drunk at the wheel of his car because he habitually drinks so much that alcohol no longer has an effect on him.

Verne Smith, 40, said he took from 10 to 15 beers a day and had only 5 or 6 the day he was arrested. Magistrate A. W. MacMillan dismissed charges of drunk driving.

Leader Vows To Continue Tax Fight

HARRISBURG, March 15 (AP)—Gov. Lender said today he will campaign for the remainder of his term for repeal of the new 3 percent state sales tax.

"I intend to devote a great part of the next three years in trying to unburden the people of Pennsylvania of the sales tax," Lender told his weekly news conference.

Lender tried without success to get a state income tax bill through the Senate after it had passed to Democratic-dominated House.

At the same time the governor expressed hope that the stamp plan for collecting the levy would be "knocked out."

The stamp collection feature of the newly enacted tax is scheduled to go into effect July 1.

Clarification

Meanwhile, Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader, said GOP amendments to the tax law, drawn up after a week's work, will not include dropping the stamp plan.

The amendments mainly concern clarification of certain clauses, he said.

Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster), who played an integral part in drawing up the amendments, said House Republicans will meet with Democrats probably on Sunday night to review the changes.

The Senate in other business today approved nearly $4 million dollars in appropriations for state operations and aid to institutions and then adjourned until Monday. The House already had adjourned for the week.

Bombs, Bullets

Pro-Greek guerrillas used bombs and bullets again today in their fight against British rule.

The wife and 6-year-old child of a British army officer were cut by flying glass when a bomb was tossed into their Nicosia home.

A Royal Air Force man was wounded outside an army barracks in Nicosia. Two policemen were injured by gunfire.

Two bombs were hurled at a military vehicle in Famagusta. Another was thrown at a military patrol in the village of Drousha, near Paphos.

Fee of Sales Tax

Leader has been a long-time opponent of the sales tax which the General Assembly adopted under Republican sponsorship after 14 months of controversy.

He described the stamp collection plan as "highly undesirable" and refused to be "identified with the paternity of this illegitimate child (sales tax)."

"I would like to see it knocked out," he replied to a question on his feeling toward the stamp collection plan.

Under the stamp collection plan, in effect in Ohio for 22 years, the state sells stamps to banks which distribute them to retailers, who in turn give them to purchasers of taxable items.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic Senate leader, raised objections to the stamp plan before the sales tax law was passed and said he would try to have it removed. However, no amendment to do that has yet been presented to the legislature.

Newest Carrier Top Navy Weapon

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas said today the Navy's main weapon is the new Forrestal-class aircraft carrier. Five of the big flattops have been authorized.

Thomas called them "mobile air bases" and said they would have a speed of about 40 miles an hour.

The carrier "will be very hard to locate, it will be very hard to hit, and yet it can be moved a thousand miles within a 24-hour period," Thomas told a luncheon of the National Security Industries Assn.

Vandals Start Fires

LOS ANGELES, March 15 (AP)—Vandals started three fires at St. Vibian Cathedral today, one on the altar, using American and papal flags and other sacred articles as fuel.

Pet That Chewed Baby's Foot Identified As Margay, Not Ocelot As First Thought

Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Perry told a reporter he started checking after receiving telephone calls from people who keep ocelots as pets. Each of them, he said, told him they had seen newspaper pictures of the animal which attacked the baby, and it looked different from their own cats.

Turn Savage

He said he called in Stephen Hillary of New York, a soil conservation worker just back from a Central American assignment where he became acquainted with such animals, to verify the suggestions.

Hillary unhesitatingly asserted the Perry pet is a margay.

Perry read from a book by William Bridges, curator of publications at the New York Zoo, that margays are docile when young but tend to "turn savage."

The same book, he went on, describes the ocelot as "unusually mild for a wild member of the cat family."

Margay . . . not ocelot

The child, Thomas Perry, remained under treatment at Johns

Wilson Declares 'Open Skies' Inspections Would Prevent Decisive Surprise Attacks

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The nation's top defense leaders indicated today that President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan for mutual aerial inspection has been refined to a point where it would prevent any decisive surprise attack.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on disarmament that the plan is hard headed and realistic.

Proper Control

"The element of trust would be eliminated by a proper control system," Radford said.

They told the subcommittee that, as the Defense Department views, the "open skies" formula, it is neither a disarmament plan nor a foolproof guarantee against any and all surprise attacks.

Radford said, however, that it would block the launching of any decisive surprise blow, which he said is the main thing in the atomic age. Any surprise attack that did not knock out the victim, he said, would "only bring retaliation and self-destruction."

Radford said the plan is three-fold:

Blueprint Exchange

1. Exchange of military blueprints with Russia. This would include the numbers, kinds and deployment of air, sea and land forces, down to the last man.

2. Aerial reconnaissance over both countries to verify the accuracy of the blueprints.

3. Ground inspection teams, as proposed by the Russians and accepted by President Eisenhower, at key points such as airfields and seaports.

Under the present plan, which is expected to be taken up at a United Nations disarmament conference opening Monday in London, Radford said the exchange of blueprints would come first. Then would come aerial surveys and ground checks.

Wilson said this would be a "good start."

No Plan to Disarm

He made clear the United States does not propose to disarm until there is agreement on a plan for safe control. And he said he saw no "immediate prospect" of any safe plan to control atomic weapons.

Wilson told the Senate group, headed by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), that there are "some realists" in the Kremlin who know that there can be no winner in an atomic or hydrogen war. He also said he is sure there must be "some men of good will in Russia just like there are in this country."

Heavy Snow Possible In State Today

The U. S. Weather Bureau last night alerted Pennsylvanians to the possibility of a heavy snowfall today.

The forecast for the Poconos was for snow beginning this morning with possible amounts of three to six inches when the storm ends tonight or early Saturday.

High temperature today was expected to range between 23 and 32 degrees.

"Considerable cloudiness and continued cold with snow flurries over the mountains," was the forecast for Saturday.

ADA Replies To Walter On Judges

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—A spokesman for Americans for Democratic Action tonight described a recent statement by Rep. Walter (D-Pa) as an attempt to bully circuit court judges.

Walter, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, has said he believes it is difficult to get convictions of congressional witnesses who talk at congressional questions, because "so many members of ADA are on the bench."

Edward D. Hollander, national ADA director, said in commenting on Walter's statement:

"We don't believe Congressman Walter's attempt to bully the distinguished judges of the circuit court of appeals will be successful. His efforts to intimidate judges who stand firm for civil liberties is just further evidence of his unfitness to serve either as a member of the House Judiciary Committee or the Commission on Government Security."

Premier Of Eire Raps Partition

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The partition of Ireland was described by Eire's Prime Minister, John A. Costello, today as lessening in some degree the strength of Western defenses.

With Northern Ireland still part of the United Kingdom and sending representatives to the British Parliament, Costello said circumstances have been created "which do not permit any Irish government to enter any military alliances such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

Costello said in addressing a National Press Club luncheon that any such alliance "whatever might otherwise commend it, would be unacceptable to the Irish people, whose sympathies and emotional energies are needlessly distracted by partition."

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—A flareup 93 million miles away on the sun's surface today blacked out short wave wireless communications 30 minutes to an hour throughout the daylight world.

Coffee Inquiry

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) today proposed a Senate investigation of "recent sharp increases" in coffee prices.

Walter Bill Would Curb Reds Seeking Passports

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Rep. Walter (D-Pa), charging that court decisions have opened the way for Communists to pry into government secrets, today introduced a bill to change procedure in passport cases.

Walter is chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and of an Immigration subcommittee.

He said his bill would set up a special review procedure under which the secretary of state would not have to disclose his sources of security information in turning down an application for a passport.

Walter declared this would block Communists in their efforts to find out who are the "courageous undercover agents" working against them.

Refusal Mandatory

The bill would also provide for "mandatory refusal of passports to persons under Communist discipline," he said. An official who knowingly granted a passport to such a person could be jailed for two years and fined $5,000.

Walter did not mention specific names or court decisions.

As Walter outlined it, his measure would set up a special State Department review procedure along the lines of the 1946 Administrative Procedure Act for persons who wish to fight a passport turnaround. He said this would allow administrative hearings and possible further review in court "in full compliance with the 'due process' clause of the Constitution."

Higher Rates

To receive the increased benefits—which would go as high as 80 percent of the retiring worker's last salary—the individual would pay slightly higher rates. The new system also would result in an increase of about three million dollars a year to the Commonwealth.

If retired at the age of 60, the employee would receive his regular pension benefits until 65, at which time his benefits from the state, county or local fund would decrease but would be compensated for by benefits from the federal social security fund.

Million $ Note Still Missing

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—The Chase Manhattan Bank still hasn't found its missing million dollar U. S. Treasury note. It isn't giving up the search, though.

"It's a giant task to try to find it," a bank spokesman said, "because there are some 45,000 accounts in our vault and that means going through 45,000 folders."

Money Bills Voted

HARRISBURG, March 15 (AP)—The Senate today passed without a dissenting vote 16 appropriations bills to provide nearly $4 million dollars additional for state operations and aid to various institutions during the 1955-57 biennium.

Lenten Meditation

By Rev. Frank W. Wingerter
East Stroudsburg
Presbyterian Church

THE SEASON of Lent is a time when we passionately remember what the Lord Jesus sacrificed for us in the last week of His Life in the flesh. His rejection on that first Palm Sunday, His betrayal by one of His Disciples, His agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, His torture at the trials before the High Priest and Roman officials, His excruciating suffering on the Cross were all for us.

The reason I say it was for us is because Jesus was not only crucified for humane nature but human nature crucified Him. Each of us is a part of this nature. It wasn't only for the Jews and Roman soldiers beneath the cross that Christ suffered. It was for people of every race, nationality and creed that make up human nature. It was for you and me.

This season of remembering the extraordinary sacrifice of Jesus inspires us to be of a sacrificial nature toward Him and people all about us who are in need. Remembering what He did for us, in a designated season like Lent, is to each of us what a powerful generator is to an auto battery.

$100 Million Additional For Soil Bank Plan

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—The Senate added 100 million dollars to the proposed soil bank payments in its election-year farm bill tonight and then recessed until 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The Senate adopted a proposal by Sen. Allott (R-Colo.) to add the 100 million to the acreage reserve, or long-range part, of the soil bank program. Approval was on voice vote.

Exceeds Billion

As the bill came from the Senate Agriculture Committee, it carried 750 million dollars for the short-term acreage reserve program and 350 million for the long-range conservation reserve, a total of $1,100,000,000.

The 750 million is authorized to reimburse farmers who reduce their plantings of wheat, cotton, corn, rice, peanuts and tobacco, all major crops.

The conservation reserve applies to any crop lands that are converted to grass, trees, water storage, game refuges or similar conservation uses.

Earlier the Senate approved a "dual parity" system of price supports for basic crops, which promises farmers about 400 million dollars more in benefits this year.

One Vote Margin

Administration efforts to knock dual parity out of the election-year farm bill failed by a single vote. The roll call on this key issue was 45-44.

President Eisenhower's forces wanted major crops supported under a new parity formula which became effective this year. It raised the price level for some crops but lowered it for others—among them wheat and corn.

But the Senate chose to stay with the dual parity provision written into the farm bill by its would allow farmers to use either the new formula or the old—whichever was higher—in computing the level of price supports.

As the Senate session went past the dinner hour, Sen. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the Agriculture Committee, said there was no chance of final action on the farm bill tonight. He reported there were still 42 amendments to be disposed of.

Move for Wheat

Parity is the price fixed by law as fair to the farmer in relation to his production costs. Existing law calls for crop price supports ranging from 75 to 90 percent of parity.

The Senate's action today was estimated by the Agriculture Department to mean the government would pay about 13 cents a bushel more this year on the wheat crop of nearly a billion bushels and about 9 cents a bushel more for corn. The corn crop sometimes tops three billion bushels.

It was also estimated to mean about 6-10 of a cent a pound more for peanuts and from one-fourth to one-third of a cent a pound on cotton. On the basis of anticipated yields this year, corn growers would get an estimated 270 million dollars in additional support payments while wheat producers would get an additional 100 million, cotton growers 12½ million and peanut farmers about 10 million.

Fatal Blow

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), who led the fight to eliminate dual parity, said the Senate's decision to retain it was "a fatal blow to our hope for a good farm bill this year."

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) contended, however, that dual parity was one of the few things remaining in the bill "to give farmers any immediate relief this year."

Thirty-five Republicans and nine Democrats supported Aiken's amendment to strike out the double system. Thirty-five Democrats and 10 Republicans opposed it. The Republicans were all from Western wheat states.

Israel, Jordan Both Condemned

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector, March 15 (AP)—The Jordan-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission today condemned both Israel and Jordan for the heavy firing and shelling at Barta village on Monday.

On the Jordan side, one woman was killed and two Jordan guards were wounded. Israel's casualties were one policeman killed, two other policemen and one soldier wounded.

Both delegations to the U.N.-sponsored commission submitted resolutions censuring the other side for breach of the armistice.

Bureau Installs Electronic Brain

THE WORK of keeping current social security records on the nation's 120-million social security account number holders is being shifted to an electronic brain.

Marie T. Miller, district manager of the Eastern Social Security Office, said use of the "brain" in the central offices of the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance in Baltimore will speed up this gigantic record-keeping operation, and will save untold amounts of storage space.

The newly-developed brain, which uses magnetic tape, is capable of compressing records of great length into a matter of inches, or fractions of inches, was installed last month.

Two Youths Seriously Injured In Accident On Fire Lane Rd.

PALMERTON—Two young men were seriously injured when the car in which they were riding went off the highway a half mile east of here on L. R. 13014, the "Fire Lane Road," at 4:05 p. m. yesterday.

State police at the Leighton sub-station identified the injured as: Steve Kittleberger, 17, Palmerton, who suffered a collapsed lung, lung bruises, multiple fractured ribs and scalp cuts. Alfred Roeder, 17, also of Palmerton, back bruises, multiple cuts of the scalp and face.

Driver of the car was George Prutzman, 16, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Prutzman, Palmerton. Police said young Prutzman was thrown clear of the car when it rolled over.

Hit Drain Pipe
State police gave these details: Prutzman was driving east on the highway, swerved to the right to avoid an approaching truck, ran off the highway. His car skidded, hit a concrete drain pipe, flipped through the air, rolled over several times, hit a stone wall, then rolled over again onto the highway.

Police said the fact that Prutzman was thrown clear of the car apparently saved his life. Neither he nor three other passengers were injured, police said. The car—a 1951-model sedan—was demolished.

Tanite Fire Anniversary

YESTERDAY was the 32nd anniversary of the fire that destroyed the former plant of the Tanite Manufacturing Co., it was recalled by four veteran employees of the industry, George Charles, Clarence and Fred Marsh, brothers.

The plant, one of the oldest if not the oldest in the county, burned March 15, 1924. Discovery of the fire was made in the boiler room about an hour after approximately 50 employees had left the factory for the Saturday half-holiday.

The owner, T. Dunkin Paret, rebuilt the plant the same year. J. M. Austin continued as general manager.

Tanite started operations as a manufacturer of emery wheels.

Later the company turned to the manufacture of valve grinding compound, gasket paste and related products. J. Ray Feindel, of New York City, is the present owner and Freda Wolff, Stroudsburg, is manager-treasurer.

Increasing Minimum Salary Schedule
Good News For STC Faculty Members

House concurrence on a Senate bill increasing the minimum salary of professors and instructors at the 14 state teachers colleges $500 a year comes as cheering news to those on the campus at East Stroudsburg.

The bill also gives all grades of professors ten instead of five $200 annual raises.

It has long been recognized that educators are among the lowest paid of any of the major professions. Steps have been taken in recent years to correct the situation, but the gains made have not yet put the educator on a financial plane equal to many other workers whose responsibility or degree of training do not measure up to the teacher or professor.

According to a joke making the rounds of college campuses, an industrial firm seeking to hire bright seniors about to be graduated took a group of them and one of their professors on a junket. The business men reported back to their boss they hadn't been able to hire any of the seniors, but they had signed up the professor.

There is more basis for such a story than might be supposed. Economist Beardsley Ruml has just told the Assn. for Higher Education that if college teachers had the relative economic position they enjoyed 50 years ago, the minimum professor's salary would be $15,000 a year and pay would range up to $30,000.

Even those in the recognized professional colleges are well below that figure. Which is one of the reasons we are not turning out the quality of college graduates we should be when our accomplishments in other fields are considered.

Reliable estimates say the Soviet Union is graduating more engineers and scientists than we are, and that the education they receive may be at least as good and possibly better than that of their American counterparts.

If that is true we are less than "even" with the Russians, because much of our engineering talent is engaged in research and production of consumer goods. In the Soviet Union, virtually all such people are a part of the military machine, one way or another.

We must have more students in these fields, and more able teachers to instruct them. And whatever it costs is beside the point, for national security either comes first or not at all.

Politically-Minded Congress Debates
Crops Bill With One Eye On Farm Vote

It is anybody's guess how the fight over the farm bill in Congress will come out.

But the long and bitter Senate debate has made one thing fairly plain—that getting a constructive bill through Congress in an election year is tougher than disposing of the farm surplus.

Considering so many Congressmen have tied their hopes at the polls to what they think will most please farmer voters, it is striking that the Eisenhower Administration has managed to win as many points as it has. If Ike hadn't already said he would run again, there is good reason to suspect his farm policies would have lost much more ground in the Senate.

Even some of the loudest champions of high rigid crop supports, we suspect, are fully aware of the foolishness in perpetuating that system. They are quite aware that it is the huge surpluses, built up by high rigid supports, which brought on the price weakness in farm products.

But this is an election year, and they figure quick remedies—or legislation which appears to offer quick remedies—are better vote-getters than a long-range program which might get the farmer out of his plight in due time.

Secretary Benson's program is long-range. In the end, it would help both farmers and taxpayers. But it is ultimate, not immediate. The politicians in Congress want magic—even if it isn't magic, but only looks like magic.

This, mainly, is the basis on which the farm bill is being debated.

George Sokolsky Says...

McClellan Group Should Check Election
Costs Out Of Line With Pay Of Officials

One of the most hopeful signs that our Republic is surviving as such is that the public is still suspicious of its officials.

It is not surprising that its officials may succumb to corruption. However, just to pick on gas-corrupted Senators is short-sighted. The problem is so complex that nobody can quite know by what investigative process any Committee can discover the under-the-table contributions that are or have been made to politicians by businessmen, labor leaders, special committees or even Communists.

It is now well known that when the American Labor Party was organized in New York State, it not only functioned as a Communist ally of the Democratic Party but that a small and effective cell was established in the Republican Party. That cell has now proliferated and is very powerful in New York State and it is well-heeled, as the expression goes. Senator McClellan might look into that situation, now having the excuse that he is trying to discover under-the-table contributions to Senators or prospective Senators.

One hears stories. Naturally there are no means, without the power of subpoena and a force of detectives, to know whether the stories are wholly true. For instance, I do not believe that Senator Francis Case's story is exactly as he tells it because it does not ring true, but I have no proof one way or the other. It will undoubtedly come out sooner or later that just as there is a natural gas lobby, so there is an anti-natural gas lobby and if one gang is spending money, the other gang is spending money and an investigation should bring that out, too. Then maybe those Senators who have a reputation of being paragons of virtue will turn out to have campaign funds too, to which their friends and even strangers contribute, under-the-table as well as otherwise.

Candidates can, of course, say that they do not know who contributes to their campaign funds, that they do not check each name and certainly that they never heard of under-the-table contributions. So, how is this or any Committee going to discover the under-the-table contributions? Senator McClellan might investigate that sort of thing, involving the defeat of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, a leading Democrat and a great liberal in his day. He was defeated by money sent into Montana from New York and subsequently a similar attempt was made to defeat the late Senator Pat McCarran by the same corruption.

It would be of value to get at a pattern because this seems clear that if politicians take under-the-table money, it is not to indulge themselves in licentious living but to have the wherewithal to remain in office, which every year becomes increasingly expensive. The problem then is to get at election costs which are all out of line in relationship to the salaries paid and the amount of time an elected official has to give to the job and to being re-elected. To a degree, the process of being re-elected is continuous for some public officials who come from highly competitive and unstable areas where they have to show themselves constantly, sit on daises at public dinners, attend wakes and bar mitzvahs, buy tickets for innumerable charities, including many fake but popular affairs, and just keep their names alive by making the silliest statements, such as even a television gag-writer would be ashamed to acknowledge.

All this costs money and unless one comes into politics with inherited money or after he has managed to accumulate large sums honestly or otherwise, it is a very tough racket and particularly hard on the womenfolk. One of the most lucrative ways of getting on is to make a freak of oneself on the Senate floor and go lecturing at $1,500 a lecture. This involves no work, except travel. It is possible to become popular with some particular group and then their societies all over the country arrange such lectures. It is an indirect subsidy and cannot be called a campaign fund and breaks no law.

So, exactly what is going to be investigated and what will it prove? Mostly that if a guy goes into public life without much money, he has to get some. The best way is to marry a rich wife, door keys and waiting for another employee to show with more keys. Bank robbers get caught fast. Neither the banks nor the depositors lose money, as there is ample insurance. But it is typical of the horse-player's mind that in such a situation he would overlook the fact yegmen are never a match for the FBI, lose the big purse fast and get swiftly barred from tracks not guarded by high stone walls and watchtowers.

A horse player lives in a dream world, with his dreams always losing in a photo finish. He would not be smart enough to realize that the ultimate chart must read: "Yeggman off fast, overtook Key-Bearer easily, benefited from inside position and looked a winner until Hoover's boys, fit and ready, closed terrific gap to overhaul leader in stretch. Hoosgow was well up throughout." (Nevertheless we can't see why suburban banks don't hire an armed guard to "mind the store" nights and let no stranger get in at the morning opening.)

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE

Ex-President's Daughter
Rises Above Position

Margaret's memoirs (Miss Truman's, that is) are being published in a three-part series by a national magazine. Her story is that of young lady, daughter of a President of the United States, concert singer, radio and TV personality, and candid reporter of her life and times. With only the first third of her story in print, it is hard to anticipate which of Miss Truman's many roles will be considered most successful. My guess would be that of "young lady." A most unusual one, to be sure, but primarily that.

At a press party celebrating her latest debut Margaret remarked that her hat was off to those who write professionally. "Writing is the hardest job I've ever attempted," she said, in effect.

Tactful though it was, truthful though she believed it to be, I think the hardest job Margaret Truman ever faced was simply being the daughter of a President and emerging as a person in her own right. As a young lady whose accomplishments and success speak for themselves.

Any who read her story must be entranced with the sometimes hilarious, sometimes poignant situations our First Families must meet, not as we do—on occasion—but constantly. And one need not pore over ancient Presidential history to recall that their progeny have not always resisted the blandishments of unearned and over-subscribed public adulation. Some of them have put paternal prestige to rather good account, capitalizing on and exploiting position for all it was worth.

Not so here. The determination of Margaret Truman's parents that their daughter not become the prey of an easy fame is one of the most appealing and human qualities of this story.

When one realizes how easy it would have been, how nearly inevitable that a young girl's head be permanently turned by the onslaught of publicity and fawning attention always available from ambitious hostesses and others with an axe to grind, it is heartwarming to read how Harry and Bess Truman protected their daughter from such insidious nonsense.

Even though she was not exactly repelled by glamor and glory, there is an undercurrent of grateful appreciation for the influence of a mother who permitted no "airs" in her young daughter. There is the same devotion to a Dad who cautioned against giving less than one's best.

"Now you're faced with a successful career. Be very careful," he wrote Margaret, "that you remember your background and bringing up. I want you to succeed in whatever you undertake. To do that you must give it all you have. . . . Do not let the glamor get you. . . . Honor knows no class. . . ."

Mighty entertaining, this story. Mighty fine folks, the Trumans. Readable, write-able, likeable girl, Margaret. May she have happy endings for all those chapters in life yet to come.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Red China Dangles Trade
Lure Before Britain, U. S.

Washington, March 16 — Red China is dangling a glittering lure before Britain and the U. S.

Peiping is offering to buy the astonishing total of 1,400,000 farm and construction tractors, in exchange for extensive easing of the UN embargo imposed during the Korean war.

Tractors are a major banned item. Annual U. S. tractor production is around 600,000 of all types.

The tempting trade proposition was made to Britain, which has diplomatic relations with Red China. London in turn communicated it to Washington.

Documentary evidence of this is in the hands of the Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee, headed by Senator John McClellan (D., Ark.). The group is probing the big expansion of exports, particularly strategic supplies, to Russia and its satellites since a secret Western trade conference in Paris in 1954.

The details of this agreement, greatly reducing the UN embargo against the Soviet bloc, has never been disclosed.

But through questioning of Commerce Secretary Weeks, Harold Stassen, chief U. S. official at the Paris party, and other informed witnesses, the Senate investigators have definitely established that copper, rubber, tractors and numerous other strategic commodities were removed from this embargo list and large quantities have been shipped to the Communists.

Red China's spectacular tractor offer stems directly from the 1954 East-West trade agreement.

The Senate probes are in possession of a report that Peiping, in making this proposal to Britain pointed out that American and English tractors can be obtained from the Soviet bloc, and it would be simpler and cheaper to purchase them direct.

Secretary Dulles and Foreign Aid Administrator John Hollister have been summoned by the investigators for interrogation on this touchy issue.

Also, Secretary Weeks is being recalled for further questioning by Senators John Kennedy (D., Mass.) and Sam Ervin (D., N.C.). Weeks testified the U. S. "reluctantly" agreed to the 1954 demands of its NATO allies for more trade with the Iron Curtain countries.

The investigators have a transcript of the minutes of a meeting of a Commerce Department industry advisory group at which officials reported they had attended the Paris conference and urged moderating the UN embargo against Russia and its satellites.

Weeks will be asked to explain how this authoritative report squares with his previous explanation to the Committee.

Note: Attorney General Brownell has advised the White House that government-owned farm commodities cannot be sold to Communist countries. He gave this opinion in response to a request prompted by Agriculture Secretary Benson, who is seeking foreign markets for the high crop surpluses in government hands. Brownell held these supplies can't be sold to the Reds under existing laws; they will have to be changed before that can be done.

Foreign Flashes—The U. S. has been notified by France that it has decided to sell twelve Mystere jet fighters to Israel. Foreign Minister Pineau has sent that word to the State Department. . . . Red China is planning to join the International Geophysical Year. That's what Dr. L. V. Berkner, noted scientist, has told the House Appropriations Committee. He stated if China does that, it will have access to U. S. data on "earth satellites." Said Dr. Berkner, "Red China has not yet presented a program, but it has announced it intends to participate in the International Geophysical Year. We expect their program to be submitted at a meeting in September. In view of the vast area covered by China, a major program may well develop there, particularly in meteorology."

American air forces in Libya are being increased. An air headquarters at Rabat, French Morocco, is being moved to a base in Libya. . . . Chairman is Syros Skouras, movie magnate; other officers are former Air Sec. Thomas Finletter and former Senator William Benton, Conn.

Peace Plan—The U. S. is springing an atomic surprise at the London disarmament conference that resumes on Monday.

It's a proposal to end nuclear weapons tests.

Under the U. S. plan, this goal would be achieved in two steps: first, by limiting the number and size of such explosions; then later, halting them entirely.

This formula will be offered as a supplement to President Eisenhower's historic "open skies" disarmament inspection proposal, which Russia has never accepted. The two propositions will be tied together in a "package" plan.

Britain and France have been consulted about that and are in agreement of it.

Auto Plant
Spending

—By Horace G. Heller

Automobile and truck manufacturers are betting billions of dollars on a bright future for America.

Perhaps there is no better sign of prosperous times ahead than a large expenditure by practical businessmen for new factories, offices and production equipment.

According to recent government and private surveys the automotive industry's outlays of this kind in 1956 are expected to approach two billion dollars. This would make 1956 far and away the industry's biggest expansion year of all time. It will represent an increase in capital expenditures over last year of approximately 65 per cent.

In this tremendous spurt of growth, the automotive industry will not find itself alone, although it will be leading the list of manufacturing industries. The surveys show that the current year will see the biggest expenditure for plant and equipment by all of American industry on record with estimates of the total ranging from about $30 billions to $33.4 billions.

One large automotive company has announced expansion expenditures of one billion dollars for this year alone, without mentioning its plans for growth in 1957 and 1958.

Another motor vehicle manufacturer has revealed that it will spend more than half a billion dollars this year, and another half billion plus in the succeeding two years.

A third company recently revealed plans for the future this way:

"In the past year we invested 130 million dollars in expanded and modernized plant and equipment. But this is hardly a start on our long-range investment program."

"The way it looks right now, taking into account the probable increase in demand for our products and plans for modernizing our plant and equipment, in the next five years we will put over a billion dollars on the line for capital improvements and expansion. This amount is exclusive of tooling. It includes the cost of land, buildings, machinery and other equipment."

These three announcements alone add up to a sizeable, still incomplete total of $3 billions in capital expenditures by motor vehicle manufacturers during the next five years.

The Once Over

A Matter Of Handicapping

A horse-track man in custody over an eastern suburban bank robbery was overtaken so fast that it would seem he got caught in the starting gate.

The idea of racing addicts being involved in a bank heist is interesting. Assuming two or three horse players reached a decision to rob a bank, Sherlock Holmes could arrive at the following deductions: (1) They had an immediate loss of faith in their own selections for the next day's daily double; (2) it would prove one of the rare occasions when they saw no prospect of getting rich through a three-horse parlay; (3) the incident would indicate a queer belief it is easier to get $188,000 from a bank than via $2 mutuels.

We can imagine horse players getting the next day's entries and sitting down to handicap both the horses and a rural bank. Should they try to get a bundle of dough through the ponies or attempt a parlay consisting of a middle-aged widow with an outside door key and the clerk who arrives with the vault keys, unprotected? They could come up with these ratings:

Widow . . . Over her head here. Vault Key Custodians . . . In tough spot. Scratched. Passerby . . . Slow sort. Nearby Neighbor . . . Sleeper. Squad Car . . . Hard to figure. Cop on Beat . . . Away long time.

Inasmuch as the eastern job followed the old familiar undeviating pattern employed successfully for the past decade by bank robbers all over the country, the track boys could figure "Hazard" and "Long Chance" as scratches, too. It could look easier than beating the races. Nobody gets into any race track vaults by the simple device of grabbing a lone woman who carries the outer-

New Planets, Man-Made, Envisioned

By Ralph Dighton

PASADENA, Calif., March 15 (AP)—Revamping the solar system to create a hundred new planets with a climate like earth's was proposed today by a noted astrophysicist as a way of solving humanity's biggest problem—overpopulation.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, California Institute of Technology rocket expert, told a reporter that such a project is definitely within the realm of possibility.

Dr. Zwicky envisions scooping up great portions of the major planets, such as Jupiter, Saturn and Neptune, and transferring them to smaller planets and their satellites—then changing the orbits of the enlarged planets to make their course around the sun roughly comparable to that of our earth.

Help From Atom

Bumping the planets out of their orbits, transferring great masses of matter across space, all this can be accomplished, the scientist said, through proper use of the energies released by man's new weapon against the cosmos—the explosion of the atom.

The hydrogen bomb, Dr. Zwicky said, may not necessarily be the instrument of man's destruction. It may be the instrument of his salvation.

"There are far too many of us now, and it will be even worse in the future . . . The answer to this problem is virtually within our grasp if we would only seize it."

"We have a problem of segregation of races. Some races just don't seem to get along with each other. What could be simpler than segregating these races on other planets?"

Just how does the world go about transferring whole races to other planets?

How It's Done

"First, you have to provide suitable planets," he said. "The forces we have unleashed with the hydrogen bomb make it possible to do this. We can bomb Jupiter and other planets out of their orbits and into other orbits more to our liking. We can transfer great masses from the surfaces of the big planets to the smaller planets and satellites and make them larger."

"Increasing the size of the moon, for instance, would increase its gravitational pull to a point where it could build up and retain an atmosphere similar to that of earth."

The scientist was reluctant to explain just how great masses of material could be transferred from one planet to another.

"I could tell you," he said, "but it would take three weeks to make it clear. But if we can move planets, we certainly could move parts of planets, couldn't we?"

Dr. Zwicky also has thought about the kind of ship necessary to carry men from one planet to another. Such a ship could be built within 10 years or so, he said, if enough money, say 100 million dollars, were made available for research of the type he is now doing.

Attention Turns To Silencing Of Garbage Can Lids

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—The crash of the garbage can lid will echo no more on the sidewalks of New York. That is, if Phase 2 of the city's no noise campaign is a silent success.

Phase 1 was aimed at taking the honk out of the automobile horn. Phase 2, as announced by City Hall, will attempt to muffle muffled cars, backfiring trucks, clanking sewer lids and rattling garbage cans.

John Dengler To Appear On Allen Show

THE BOBBY Hackett Sextet—starring Monroe County musician John Dengler—will be featured on the Steve Allen television show "Tonight" sometime between 11:15 p.m. and 1 a.m. tonight.

The sextet has just finished an extensive tour through Canada and the Midwest. It was greeted by wide critical acclaim and good boxoffice reception.

Dengler is well-known locally for his jazz appearances at The Deerhead and other local niteries. Members of the Hackett group to be seen tonight on the Allen show include: Hackett, oboe; Dengler, tuba; John Varro, piano; Tony Hannan, drums; Tom Gwaltney, clarinet and vibes; Vic Dickenson, trombone.

Among the sextet's most enthusiastic admirers during its tour were the critics and columnists on Chicago newspapers. The Windy City, long considered one of the jazz capitals of the world, hailed the Hackett group as the greatest thing since swing.

Catholics Prepare To Adopt Radical Changes In Rites For Easter Week Services

By George W. Cornell

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—A huge, custom-changing operation is going on today in the Roman Catholic Church to revamp some of its key fixtures of worship.

From priest to parishioner, the church family is schooling itself for strikingly revised forms of Easter Week services.

It is "the most far-reaching liturgical reform of our times," says Catholic scholar Father John LaFarge.

The changes reflect a step-by-step movement within the church to give congregations a more active part in public worship. Beginning this year, as decreed by the Congregation of Sacred Rites for Roman Catholic churches throughout the world, the modifications include:

Participation

1. Alterations in ritual stressing public participation in phases of the services formerly carried out mostly by officiating clergy alone.

2. Evening service on Holy Thursday, commemorating the Lord's Supper, instead of in the morning as previously.

3. The shifting of Good Friday services from morning to afternoon to more nearly coincide with the time of Christ's death.

4. Taking of communion—the Holy Eucharist—on Good Friday by the laity, a practice that hasn't been permitted since the 12th century.

5. An "Easter vigil" and Midnight Mass Saturday night before Easter—replacing a service formerly held Saturday morning.

6. Use of the vernacular—English instead of Latin—in portions of the Saturday services, the first time English has been made a fixed part of the regular liturgy.

Original Status

The changes, said Father Charles J. McManus, director of the Catholic Information Bureau, represent "the greatest step taken in centuries to restore observances of the holy days of the week to their original status."

There have been occasional specific transitions in liturgy down through the years, he said, but none "so extensive in many centuries."

One major objective was to bring the services into closer conformity with the hours of Christ's life they signify.

Another aim—brought about by substituting the new evening services for morning worship—was to adapt the schedule to fit demands of modern industrial life—so the ordinary working man could be there.

In certain respects, the changes—such as that shifting Holy Thursday services to the evening and Good Friday services to the afternoon—parallel in part the practice in many Protestant churches.

Active Participants

But beyond the adjusted timetable, portions of the ceremonies also have been overhauled to make the worshipper a functioning part of the service—rather than just an observer as was often the case before.

For instance, in the adoration of the cross on Good Friday, an elaborate series of kneeling by clergy while the people watch is eliminated—to speed the process and bring the people into the devotion.

Another new feature, accenting joint participation, will be in vigil services, when each worshipper bears a candle—to be lit from one representing Christ—thus gradually lighting the darkened church.

The idea of Saturday evening vigil services was authorized on an experimental, optional basis in 1951, but the plan now becomes mandatory throughout the church.

Previously Banned

Prior to the new plan, weekday evening masses weren't permitted in Catholic churches, except on first Fridays of each month, and on special holy days of obligation during the week, such as All-Saints Day.

New Schedule Of Services Is Outlined

THE MONTHLY meeting of the St. Matthews Holy Name Society was held Wednesday night.

The meeting was presided by the recitation of the Rosary by the group in the church.

Rev. Harold Durkin opened with prayer and during the meeting he explained to the men the changes that will be observed beginning this year on services during Holy Week. He asked the men who are employers to lend their cooperation for the release from work of Catholic employees after 3 p.m., on Good Friday instead of from noon until 3 p.m. He explained further that the changes in liturgy for Holy Thursday, Good Friday and Holy Saturday was made to bring the actual local observances closer to the exact time of their original happening.

Seek Cooperation

An effort will be made to ask other employers also to cooperate if possible to allow their Catholic employees released time so they can attend these services.

The Holy Name Society will furnish men for hours of adoration on Holy Thursday evening and Good Friday from 8 a.m. until afternoon services. All men of the parish will have an opportunity to serve on these one-hour watch periods, if possible two men will be present at all times while the Blessed Sacrament is exposed. All who are interested are asked to call James Murphy at 3965-J.

Plans were also completed by the St. Patrick's Day dance committee for the annual dance to be held Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Tommy Cullen and His Shamrock Four will furnish the music. There will be novelty dances and prizes, also group singing. Tickets for the affair may be purchased at the door. All are invited to attend. Dancing will be until 12 midnight.

TIMOTHY Evangelical Church at Middle Creek is sponsoring a special service on Sunday afternoon, March 19 at 2:30 p.m., with Rev. R. O. Parry, Lehigh, as the guest speaker and Elwood Parry, song leader and soloist.

A fashion show by the girls of the Home Economics Dept., under the direction of Marian Mackes and a display of the various articles made by the Vocational Agriculture students under the direction of Clifford Stroud, will be on display in the new shop building on Monday night, March 19. Amos Johnson has been appointed as assessor of Polk Township, succeeding the late Howard Christman, who was completing his third term.

The community is mourning the loss of three residents whose passing was so sudden: Robert Dot-ter, Wilson Frantz and former merchant and Justice of the Peace Stewart E. Smale.

Mrs. Florence Cleres and Mrs. Francis Davis, of Philadelphia, were the weekend guests of Mrs. Mary Kreger.

The Fred Miller family, of Brod-

"Drive A Mile For Savings Really Worth While"

Strength In Oils, Metals, Chemicals Hike Stock Prices

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—The stock market bounded up to its fifth new high in six days today, with oil, chemical and metal shares standout performers.

Numerous key issues gained 2 to 4 points. "Blue chips" in all divisions joined in the drive ahead, which began at the opening and carried through to the close. Steel and motor stocks came into their own in the final hour.

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks climbed 90 cents to a record $188.60, and volume rose to 3,270,000 shares. In yesterday's market, the average set the previous high mark on an advance of $1.50 and volume of 3,140,000.

Several Factors

Brokers attributed the continued rise to a combination of technical, economic and political factors. Technicians were pleased with the way trading has been increasing on days when prices go up.

There were more reports of record earnings. The Department of Commerce predicted business plant expansion in 1956 will top last year's mark by 22 per cent. Some brokers also said the market was bolstered by "Eisenhower for President" sentiment in Wall Street.

The industrial component of the average rose $1.80, rails 50 cents and utilities 10 cents.

A total of 1,216 issues changed hands, of which 566 went up and 405 declined. There were 88 new highs for 1955-56 and 7 new lows.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices were higher and volume rose to 1,480,000 shares from yesterday's 1,230,000.

Corporate bonds were mixed and active. U. S. treasury obligations were lower.

Anonymous Gift

WILKES-BARRE, March 15 (AP)—A gift of $900,000 to Wilkes College from an anonymous "friend" was hailed today as a tremendous boost to the school's development program.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dyson of Stroudsburg visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Daily.

Alice Gilpin Winner Of Essay Contest

NEWFOUNDLAND — Alice Gilpin, Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School senior, has been declared the winner of the American Legion essay contest for Wayne and Pike Counties, adding to an already long list of laurels garnered during her high school career.

As winner of the contest, she has been awarded a $100 per year scholarship at the Pennsylvania State University. The scholarship, which is renewed from year to year as long as a high scholastic rating is maintained, is granted by William Z. Scott, senator from the 14th Pennsylvania District.

This marks the seventh time in the past ten years that a GDS senior has taken the prize in competition with other Wayne and Pike high school students. Former winners include James Grimm, 1947; Francis Weinland, 1948; Fred Schoenagel Jr., 1949; Samuel Curtis, 1950; Francis Curtis, 1952; Paul Gilpin, brother of the latest winner, 1953.

Many Achievements

An honor student, Miss Gilpin has been active in many school activities. She is a member of the high school band and chorus and represented the school at district orchestra recently. She was also selected for district band but was unable to attend.

She was recently announced winner of the annual citizenship award of the Wayne County chapter. Daughters of the American Revolution, and has been a leader of the recent "teen-canteen" movement here.

Miss Gilpin has been admitted at Penn State and plans to study architectural engineering. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Gilpin, South Sterling.

Billy Graham Returns; Found People Friendly

LOS ANGELES, March 15 (AP)—Billy Graham returned from a 2½-month tour of the Far East yesterday and reported finding people friendly everywhere.

The wavy-haired 37-year-old evangelist said he came away from a 30-minute private interview with India's Prime Minister Nehru "with the feeling that he is pro-Christian."

He said Nehru believes the Communist world "is not beyond conversion to Christianity."

Graham said he has been invited to speak in Russia but has not decided whether to do so.

Graham stopped here briefly between planes en route to his home in North Carolina.

Electric Appliance Store Opens At Mount Pocono

THE HOME CENTER, a new electric appliance store, has been opened in the Casino at Mount Pocono. Dick Dishman of East Stroudsburg is the manager.

A complete line of General Electric ranges, refrigerators, TV, washers, dryers are displayed together with a built-in kitchen.

The Home Center has been serving the public some 60 years, largely in the Scranton area.

The firm also handles the Amann Stor-More freezers along with the Pennsylvania Food Plan. The showroom location offers ample parking space.

Jack McMahon, owner-operator of Jack's Market, 246 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, received national recognition this month for a special advertisement he used last St. Patrick's day.

A copy of last year's ad was reproduced in the current Publishers Idea Exchange, a monthly periodical distributed among newspapers throughout this country and Canada. The Daily Record is a contributing member to the Exchange.

Mr. McMahon's ad was chosen for its originality and typographical neatness.

You can see a copy of the winning ad again Saturday when it will be re-run again for St. Patrick's day.

Again in 1955 State Farm Mutual was the nation's number one insurer of automobiles. Adlai H. Rust, president, announced from the Bloomington, Ill., home office.

William H. Arnold, local agent for the firm, said that State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., according to official figures, led all competitors for the 14th straight year in both earned premiums and number of cars insured.

Arnold pointed out that State Farm protects over 4,000,000 cars, half a million more than any other company.

On the dollar side, the company's earned premiums were $231,375,000, up 12½ over 1954. This included $225,755,000 of auto premiums. Direct premiums written stood at $235,880,000, up almost 14 percent.

In 1955 several millions in additional savings were returned to the company's policyholders through rate reduction programs. State Farm Mutual, an "independent"

Effort To End Consideration Of Veterans As Special Group Hit By Legion Commander

THE COMMANDER of George N. Kemp Post, American Legion, last night lashed out at "a serious move to put an end to the consideration of veterans as a special group."

That move is typified by "an editorial appearing in a midwestern newspaper" which "viciously attacked" the American Legion. Ted Janusz, post commander, said Janusz made the statement following an executive board meeting at the Legion post.

The editorial to which Janusz referred appeared in the Feb. 1 issue of The Chicago Daily Tribune. It was headed "The Greedy Legion." The editorial said the "annual cost (of veterans benefits) will be 20 billion by 1966." It criticized the Legion for its opposition to Hoover Commission recommendations for cuts in veterans' payments and ended with the following paragraph:

Urged "Stop Legion" Move
"It may become necessary for patriotic veterans to form a new organization with one objective: Stop the American Legion from Wrecking America."

Sand Janusz:
"The editorial points up the fact that there is forming within the government and in other circles a serious move to put an end to the consideration of the veterans as a special group."

"The last paragraph of this editorial shows clearly how little the editorial writer knows of the work of the Legion and of the many constructive, everyday things it has done and continues to do."

"Can the American Legion be accused of wrecking America because it has been fulfilling its first objective—the care of the disabled of World War One, World War Two and the Korean War and their dependents?"

"Was the American Legion wrecking America when it conceived and sponsored the G. I. Bill of Rights for World Wars One and Two and Korean Veterans, providing readjustment benefits for them when they returned to civilian life?"

Teaches Good Government
"Is the Legion wrecking America when it sponsors a Boys' State and a Boys' Nation program teaching the fundamentals of good government to the youth of the land? Is it wrecking this nation when it carries on a School Award Medal activity recognizing good citizenship activities on the part of school children through the presentation of 20,000 such medals annually?"

"Each year the Legion sponsors oratorical contests through which more than 300,000 high school students learn more about the Constitution of the United States. The Legion takes an active part in a program of flag education to build a deeper respect for 'Old Glory.' Are these things undermining the country for which they stand as great and enduring symbols?"

"Is the Legion wrecking America when it carries on a broad 'Back to God' and 'Back to Church' movement with full emphasis on religious training? Has the Legion been wrecking America when, since its birth, it has carried on a definite program for combating Communism and all other un-American activities?"

"In its fight for adequate defense, for child welfare; in its work and sponsorship of Boy Scout troops and its planned programs of community service, is the Legion wrecking America?"

"Building America"
"For my own part—and for the thousands of other men in the Legion—there can be only one answer: A loud and definite 'No.' Instead of wrecking, the American Legion is building America."

"In this year, within Monroe County, Legion members will give support to any community project wherever asked to do so. We plan to give Legion citations to industries employing veterans on their program. This is in the committee stage, but it shall soon become a reality. We plan, too, to give Legion citations to merchants in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg for having the most effective display involving the flag on Flag Day."

"We still intend to support veteran benefits rights and it is the obligation of every veteran in this county to join a veteran organization so that we speak loudly and clearly. For the best and most effective answer to this vicious charge against our organization is to immediately build up the membership strength of our post."

"It is not enough to simply say that we are opposed to the Hoover Commission's recommendations for decreasing veteran benefits. We are opposed to those recommendations because they would cut the ground from under thousands of men who served honorably with us."

"Members of George N. Kemp Post have been asked to wire or write their Congressmen to urge them to vote against the Hoover Commission recommendations. Through this action we hope to make it clear that the Legion, and its members, believe veterans' benefits are totally justified and a necessary part of any continued legislation."

Neuberger Asks Installation Of Electric Voting Machine So Senate Will Know The Score

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, March 15 (AP)—Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) today embarked on a campaign to modernize the Senate. He even thinks it's time that a senator knew, for sure, what the score is after each legislative game is over.

So Neuberger has introduced a bill for an electric voting machine. And, if that fails, he hopes to do something for the poor senators whose names begin with A: George Aiken (R-Vt.), Gordon Allott (R-Colo.) and Clinton Anderson (D-NM).

Present Method

But first a word on how the Senate votes now, and why Neuberger tosses around such words as "inefficient" and "anachronistic" to describe it.

The clerk calls each senator's name, and that statesman may answer in anything from a loud bawl to a mumble. When all 96 names are called, the clerk goes over the names of those who failed to answer, to give tardy members a chance to vote.

Unfortunately, the Senate sometimes sounds like an unsupervised play period at a progressive kindergarten.

So, the other night, during a vote on a wheat amendment to the farm bill, the inevitable happened. The confusion was so great that the fellow keeping tabs for the Democrats got the vote 46-45 one way. The teller at the desk also had it 46-45, but with the other side winning.

Hassle Uncalled For

It turned out that both were wrong. It was a 45-45 tie, giving Vice President Nixon one of his rare chances to vote.

The confusion could have been avoided, Neuberger says. If the Senate had put in a voting machine, as 22 states already have done.

During the hassle, precedents were dug up, and Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.) recalled a time when the Senate passed a bill and didn't know about it until the next day.

The verdict was announced at 38-38. Since no one could find Vice President Wallace, the bill was lost. But the next day Russell saw he wasn't registered as having voted, although he had said, "aye."

Fortunately, the Republican leader, Charles McNary, remembered how Russell had voted, and the Journal was changed to read: passed.

Speak Up

McNary's advice to Russell: Next time, speak up louder.

But things move slowly in the Senate, and machines may be a long way off. So Neuberger suggests that it vary calling the roll from A to Y by going from Y and A or maybe by lopping 10 names off the top every so often.

"The senator well down the list has a tremendous advantage," Neuberger said. "If he knows the bill has already passed, or is beaten, he is free to vote as he pleases without worrying about how it will affect the passage of the bill."

No comment so far on the Neuberger plan from Sens. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), John Williams (R-Del.) or Milton R. Young (R-ND).

The 37,000 Bell Telephone employees and their families are big customers of clothing stores throughout the state, buying everything from shoes to hats, from underwear to outerwear, to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. Here a Philadelphia installer and his family prepare to outfit themselves with new shoes.

Telephone people are year-round customers of thousands of Pennsylvania stores and shops

With a payroll to spend this year of more than $151,000,000, Bell Telephone employees will be important customers of thousands of shops and stores in the communities the company serves throughout the state.

In clothing stores alone, they will spend two million dollars—based on the national average. This shopping not only benefits Pennsylvania storekeepers, but creates jobs with clothing manufacturers throughout the state.

The telephone employees, the Telephone Company, and Western Electric—the Bell manufacturing unit—together will account for an expenditure of one-quarter of a billion dollars in Pennsylvania this year.

Any way you look at it, the successful operation of the telephone business means a great deal to the steady employment and prosperity of a great many Pennsylvanians, both in and out of the telephone industry.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

If Wednesday's symbol was a mouldy old chair in a cold creek, yesterday's might well have been the new moon and the evening star serene above the sunset. The news, too, took a happy turn with engagements, and parties galore.

The Spring flowers, fresh-picked from members' gardens, at the Garden Club's luncheon; the brave green of the corages at the Business Women's birthday party; the way the winter coats suddenly felt heavy and cumbersome under the noon-day sun all perked up the day.

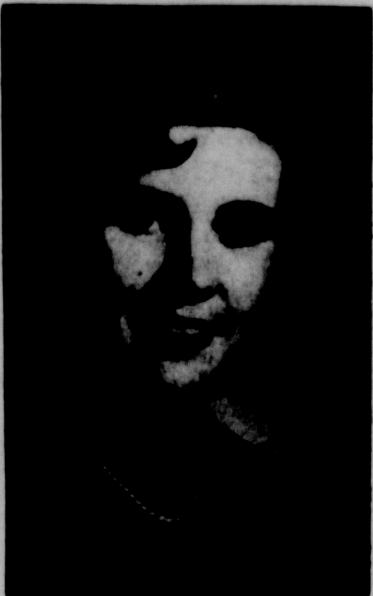

As did the thought of Mrs. Irwin having a cotton patch in Bushkill this summer. Bet she does, too, and probably picks the cotton and weaves it up into something special. Seems as if she can do practically anything.

There was only one worrying note about the day's news and that was talking about the exceptional child at the Clearview PTA meeting. There may be average children, but after reading Mrs. Mekeel's specifications for what makes them un-average, I doubt if there are any average grown-ups.

We've all got us a quirk somewhere, if not in our minds then in our physical likes and dislikes, our social adjustments, or maybe just our dispositions.

On second thought, that's one thing I won't worry about. It would probably be a deadly dull world inhabited entirely by "average" people. Our quirks may make us queer but they also make us interesting.

Pork chops that are half an inch thick will need to be braised, after browning, for one-half to three-quarters of an hour.

Cherry Lane Church Activities Are Scheduled

Tannersville — The women workers and board of trustees of the Cherry Lane Methodist Church met recently at the church with Rev. Justin Feltham presiding. Reports of treasurer and various committees of the WSCS were heard. The secretary read copy of letter she had mailed to Mr. Lintz, son of the late Mrs. Dora Eckhart, who sent a check for flowers commemorating his mother's birthday. The bouquet was placed on the altar during the last service and then presented to Mrs. Eckhart, the senior (mother-in-law).

Ways and means of raising funds were discussed at some length and Mr. Feltham announced dates for the Easter services, with a mid-week service on Tuesday, March 27 and Easter Sunday night service at 7:30, with communion.

The choir of the Cherry Lane Church were invited to attend the Easter Dawn service at Mt. Zion Church, at 6:30. The pastor is preparing a congregational letter including a budget set-up for the coming year's expenses which will be circulated among members when finished.

At the conclusion of the business period, the following enjoyed coffee and cake provided by some of the members: Mr. Justin Feltham, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henry, Mrs. Bessie Hauser, Mrs. Mildred Getz and daughter Ida, Mrs. Jessie Kane, Mrs. Helen Shaffer, Mrs. Marcy Bush, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sebring and Mr. and Mrs. William Clugston. The next meeting of the board will be on Friday, April 13, and the WSCS will meet on Tuesday, March 30, at the home of Mrs. Roy Sebring. The women of the locality as well as members of the church are invited to Mrs. Sebring's home that evening.

It was also announced that the Clearview PTA will sponsor a family square dance on Friday, April 20. The next regular PTA meeting will be April 9. Refreshments were served from a table decorated in the St. Patrick's Day motif.

The Monroe County Garden Club held its salad bowl luncheon yesterday in the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church for members and guests. Mrs. Charles Behr, Bethlehem, who is District 11 Director of the Pennsylvania Federation of Garden Clubs, was the guest speaker at the luncheon.

She described the organization of the district of which the Monroe County Garden Club is a member, and the advantages of federation. Garden therapy is being promoted by the federation, she reported. She also invited the members to attend the Spring Federation meeting to be held April 10 at the Necco-Allen Hotel in Pottsville with luncheon reservations to be made with the local president, Mrs. William Hannas, 211 M. before March 31.

Also a guest at the meeting was Mrs. Elwood Dollinger, of Bethlehem, district representative.

The salad bowl table was filled with many varied "salads for gardeners" many of them flavored with home-grown herbs such as chives, dill, and lettuce. The centerpiece was a paper mache swan used as a container for laurel in bud, pussy willows and forsythia. The white tablecloth was dotted with green shamrocks and the dessert was also in keeping with St. Patrick's Day with pistachio ice cream.

Spring Flowers, Too

Grace before the luncheon was given by Mrs. S. F. Shiffer. The arrangements brought by the members were used as centerpieces for the individual luncheon tables and made a colorful array.

Mrs. Paul Fetherman, arrangement chairman, explained the materials which had been used, many of them picked that morning from members' gardens.

Mrs. W. R. Erickson used a Christmas cactus; Mrs. Edward Knob, yellow daffodils and yellow mum in a white lamb; Mrs. Francis Grover, a root arrangement with flowers; Mrs. William Hannas, an oxalis plant, nearest native plant to the shamrock; Mrs. Judson Lee, purple African violet; Mrs. Ray Osborn, begonia and cactus in a bowl; Mrs. Edgar Van Why a gray boat containing pussy willows and crocus which she had picked yesterday morning; Mrs. A. S. Phelps, a polished root with Christmas cactus and snowdrops which she had also picked yesterday; and Mrs. Fetherman, blue iris in a sherbet glass.

Discuss Littering

Mrs. William Hannas presided at the business meeting when committee reports were given. Mrs. Irving Kiffin, bulletin board chairman, explained items listed there. Mrs. Russell E. Hamblin, roadside chairman, urged members to vote on State House Bill 171, and discussed littering of highways.

Mrs. A. S. Phelps, horticulture chairman, reported that gardening is the most popular hobby with 30 million gardeners.

Mrs. Edward Knob, conservation chairman, told of next week, which is "Wildlife Week," and described the Philadelphia Flower Show which she visited this week. Dogwood is the featured flower this year.

Mrs. R. B. Irwin reported that she had planted the cotton seed distributed at the February meeting by Mrs. Robert Miller and now had 15 cotton plants which promise a cotton patch in Bushkill this summer.

Hostess committee for the luncheon was Mrs. Paul Fetherman, Mrs. Frank Kerr and Mrs. Edward Rahn, co-chairmen; assisted by Mrs. James Coleman, Mrs. William Howell and Mrs. William Sunday.

We're all keeping our fingers crossed in the fervent hope that the sunny weather of yesterday morning returns Saturday when, in cooperation with Wyckoff's, members of the Lehigh Valley Antique Automobile Association will display thirteen of their most prized cars in front of the store from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. If the weather is stormy, the show will be postponed one week... but at the moment the skies are so serene, we're almost confident that it's this coming Saturday (St. Patrick's Day, incidentally) when you'll be viewing the automobiles in which Dad courted Mom on the dusty lanes of Monroe County.

Among the cars to be shown will be an old Sears, dating back to 1901... the 1912 Meyer that appeared at our anniversary's formal opening of Wednesday morning... a number of early vintage Cadillacs... a Naxon... several Fords... a total of thirteen, all of them reconditioned to a splendor that stands up remarkably well alongside the glamorous "horseless carriages" of today.

Bill Wells tells me he thoroughly enjoyed his drive with Sterling Walters in the Meyer on Wednesday. "That's a beautiful car," Bill said—and we know what he means. It's old, judged by the long, sleek-lined standards of 1956—and it's quaint. But it isn't funny. It's possessed of a great deal of charm. What's more, the Meyer—and all the other antique cars—has been completely renovated, repainted, and polished, until it's in a condition far superior to that of most cars skimming over the highways every day.

We feel you'll enjoy seeing these cars... and that they'll evoke just as much interest among our customers as do the super-terrible values we're offering in every department during our 81st birthday observance.

Dorothy Dunn, our Wyckoff switchboard operator, was assigned the somewhat tedious task of thinking up an anniversary greeting with which to graciously open the door during the March 14 to 24 birthday observance. Several days in advance of the BIG day, all of us offered suggestions—some more or less usable—and chuckled in amusement as she tested them for tongue-twisting.

Came Wednesday, and Dottie, in her usual cheery manner, began ushering in shoppers via the telephone. "Good morning," she chirped, "Wyckoff's eighty."

"Beauty salon," the customer cut her short.

Once again Dottie tried, "Good morning—this is Wyckoff's eighty."

"Fine," the voice at the other end of the wire interposed, "I'd like the lingerie department."

Dottie was not easily vanquished. Again and again she tried... fast, slow, emphatically, timidly. The answers were cryptic.

"Maybe if you just said 'Good morning—it's our 81st,' someone suggested hopefully. But that wouldn't do. The caller would certainly demand, "Eighty-first what?" By the same token, if the greeting were "Happy 81st birthday," there would surely be some customers insulted, because they had never guessed they sounded THAT old.

Of course, not everyone was in a rush. Many took time to say "Happy birthday" . . . or "Isn't that wonderful?" . . . or, "Well, Wyckoff's deserves a happy one." But by the end of the day, Dottie was worn to the proverbial frazzle . . . and her voice sounded as though it had been drawn through a knot hole. At 5:15 I stopped by the board in time to hear her say, "Good afternoon—we're celebrating our eighty-first anniversary." Then, with a giggle she explained, "I don't really lip most of the time." She doesn't either. It was just a clearest case of a girl celebrating too long and too well.

Cagers Honor McLaughlin

DAVE "KELLY" McLaughlin placed another honor on the long list which has grown by leaps and bounds during the basketball season that came to an end last Saturday with a 75-71 victory over Wilkes College.

McLaughlin yesterday was selected honorary captain of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College cage machine by his teammates.

The ESSTC center, who finished the season with 546 points, recently was named to the All-Pennsylvania State Teachers College basketball team. He also shared average per game scoring honors with Jim Parker, Cheyney, with a mark of 27 counters a game.

Against overall opposition the former Catawugua High star averaged 28.7 points a contest, including an output of 53 in one game against Trenton.

Statistics
ESSTC, with a record of eight wins and 11 setbacks, outscored the opposition, 1,518 to 1,508 while averaging 79.9 tallies a game. Rival teams averaged 79.4 markers a contest.

The Warriors as a unit attempted 1,380 field goals made good on 562. The Warriors shot 621 times from the foul line and hit on 386. Coach Jerry Palaia's cagers made good on 41 per cent of their field goals and 62 per cent of their foul shots.

ESSTC grabbed 291 offensive rebounds and 510 of the defensive variety, or a total of 801. The team handed out 158 assists, with Charley German leading the way.

Statistics follow:

Tavern Evens Series With Dinermen

Second Period Play Decides Court Issue

RUDY'S TAVERN evened the final Pocono Mountains League basketball playoff series at one game apiece last night by rolling to an 86-74 decision over surprising Al Bessecker's Diner. The contest was played on the Stroudsburg High School court.

The deciding contest will be held on the same court sometime next week.

A second quarter collapse cost the outmanned Dinermen the verdict, after both teams had picked up 22 counters in the first round.

The Dinermen, featuring only five players, were outscored by a 28-13 margin in the second stanza and trailed at halftime, 50-35.

Bessecker's club fought back with a 21-16 bulge in the third round, but Rudy's determined quintet made certain of victory with a 20-18 spread during the last 10 minutes of play.

Ray Bussolari fouled out of the game with three minutes still to be played and the Dinermen had to go the remainder of the distance with only four players.

Field Goals
Rudy's squad, third place club at the end of the regular season, held a 35-31 advantage in field goals and made good on 16 of 22 free throws. The Diner quintet found the range on only 12 of 23 foul shots.

The Dinermen, who won the opening game of the series, 59-54, finished fourth in the regular season race. Rudy's five eliminated the pennant winning Stroudsburg Poconos in the first round and Rudy's five sent Gray's Chevrolet to the sidelines.

Al Hofmann paced the winning attack last night with 25 points, while Dave Lutz and Stan Tschorz were next in line with 16 tallies each. Byron "Chick" Miller was top point producer for the Bessecker forces with 22 counters, while Don Miller was number two with 21.

Hofmann scored 11 of his 25 points during 13 appearances at the foul line.

Canisius Has Axe To Grind

PHILADELPHIA, March 15 (AP)—When Canisius meets Dartmouth in the opener of a regional NCAA basketball tournament playoff twin bill here tomorrow night, the Golden Griffins will be seeking to erase a bad memory from last year's competition.

After whipping Villanova in the first round here in 1954, Canisius met LaSalle and the Explorers ran the score sky high. The Griffins were especially incensed about the fact LaSalle Coach Ken Loeffler didn't make any substitutions until his boys had opened up a 25-point margin.

Records
Dartmouth, the Ivy League champ, has a record of 17-10 and Canisius stands at 18-6.

In the second game tomorrow night at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra, Temple's Owls (22-3) oppose the Yankee Conference winner this year, Connecticut (17-9).

McCoy To Lead Army Cagers

WEST POINT, N. Y., March 15 (AP)—Bob McCoy, of East Liverpool, Ohio, has been elected captain of the 1956-57 Army basketball squad. The Army announced today. One of the smallest men on the Cadet squad, McCoy has been a regular the past two seasons.

McCoy succeeds Norris Harbold of Newburgh, N. Y.

Indians Scalp Orioles, 12-6

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz., March 15 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles got an early lead today but couldn't hold it and lost their sixth straight exhibition game, 12-6, to the Cleveland Indians.

The Orioles now are the only major league team without an exhibition victory.

Varsity 'S' Association Launches Plan To Send Stroudsburg Football Squad To Camp

POSSIBILITY of sending the Stroudsburg High School football team to a training camp was the number one topic of discussion at a meeting of the Varsity "S" Association in the Stroudsburg Municipal Building last night.

The idea as presented by Tom Somers, president of the organization, was well received by the gathering of 25 members. Three area camps are under consideration, although no official selections have been made to date.

Somers announced that he would speak with the Varsity "S" Club at Stroudsburg High today in an effort to get that organization's cooperation on the project.

An investigating committee was named to study the problem. The committee consists of Elwood "Pickles" Hintze, Mahlon Serfass, Warren "Mag" Loney, George Metropoulos, Bernie "Doc" Holman, Don "Tony" Gilpin, Bill Cramer, Woodrow "Woody" Fisher and Jack Mullins. Hintze and Serfass are co-chairmen of the group.

The association also made initial plans for the spring banquet. A date of Wednesday, May 16 was set, although no place was officially announced. Roy Nevil and Bill Crooks were named co-chairmen of the banquet committee. Others on the committee are Jim Brands, Bob Buck, Dick Schaller and Frank Somers.

Association membership praised Loney, chairman of the recent Varsity "S" Invitational Basketball Tournament, and members of the tournament committee for the success of the affair. The tournament enriched the association treasury by $163.

The membership also warmly thanked the officials who gave of their time without pay in tournament games and voted to invite each official who worked a game to the spring banquet as the organization's guest.

It was voted unanimously by the association to write a letter to Alfred W. Munson, principal at Stroudsburg High School, thanking him for the outstanding cooperation he registered during the tournament, thus insuring its success.

The next meeting of the organization will take place on Thursday, April 19, also at the Municipal Building.

San Francisco Opens Defense Of NCAA Basketball Crown

UNBEATEN San Francisco, Kentucky, Iowa, Temple and Utah are listed among the top favorites as the National Collegiate basketball tournament resumes Friday night. And from the way things have been going so far, it isn't too hard to imagine all of them being beaten.

The first round of the NCAA championship produced a series of upsets that stretched imagination almost to the limit. Such fine teams as North Carolina State, Holy Cross, DePaul and West Virginia were tumbled out and Southern Methodist barely slid through.

Only Certainties
The only certainties about the two-day regional competitions are:
1. By Saturday night the 25-team field will be whittled down to the last four, which will go to Evanston, Ill., to settle the eastern and western championships and the national title.

2. One of the nation's longest major-college winning streaks is bound to be broken tonight.

The big winners are defending champion San Francisco, which hasn't been beaten since early in the 1954-55 season, and UCLA, the Pacific Coast Conference kingpin. When they meet at Corvallis, Ore., San Francisco will put its 51-game streak on the line against UCLA's 17 straight.

Plans were also made for attending Monday's meeting of the Pocono Mountains League at the Lily Pond, Saylorsburg. The meeting is set for 8 p.m.

NIT Opens Tomorrow

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Duke begins its title defense in the National Invitation basketball tournament Saturday as a team that doesn't even rate a seeding or a spot on an evening program.

Showing the difference one season and one big man can make, the Iron Dukes from Pittsburgh minus Dick Ricketts—play Oklahoma A & M in the second game of the double-header that opens the prestige-loaded NIT, oldest of the post-season basketball tournaments.

Opener
The first game Saturday afternoon brings together a pair of unheralded and comparatively small colleges, Lafayette and St. Francis of Brooklyn—both appearing for the second time in the 19-year-old tournament. On Saturday night Seton Hall, the 1953 winner, faces Marquette and St. Louis University plays Xavier Ohio.

Wins Pro Ring Debut
CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, March 15 (AP)—Harrison "Kid" Glover, 195-pound former Golden Glove fighter, made his professional debut tonight by knocking out George Cheatem of Warren, Ohio, in 1:25 of the first round before a hometown crowd.

Fountain Hill To Battle Columbia In Reading

FOUNTAIN HILL, District 11 class "B" Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association championship, will attempt to climb even higher in the state playoffs today when the Hillers do battle with Columbia, in Reading.

Columbia recently won District Three "B" honors with a 53-44 decision over Bolling Springs. Fountain Hill has won 27 games against one loss and marched to 16 straight favorable decisions while winning the Lehigh-Northampton League championship with an unblemished mark.

The Hillers, coached by Charley Dubbs, took the measure of Bristol, its initial inter-district foe, last Monday night, 66-51, at Muhlenberg's Field House. Bristol had enjoyed a perfect mark of 23 wins and no defeats before Fountain Hill inflicted a convincing 66-51 defeat.

Fountain Hill lost its first game of the season, an overtime struggle against Easton, but since that time has racked up 27 straight favorable nods, mostly by overwhelming margins.

Dubbs, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will stick with his usual lineup. The starting Fountain Hill contingent will feature Dick "Stretch" Kosman and Karol "Butch" Strelcecki as its big guns.

Pocono Manor Pro Ties For Second

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Husky Lionel Hebert, never a PGA tournament winner, gave the St. Petersburg Open field an early 65 to shoot at today, but they all fired and fell back in a terrific assault on par.

Hebert's seven under par 31-34 over the Lakewood Country Club's 36-36-72 course stood up for four hours and when all results were in he held a one stroke lead at the end of the first round.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, once the nation's foremost amateur and now a regular member of the touring pros, and Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., a former Duke University golfer, fired 66s, to tie for second.

Hot Patter
Hebert, 28, an Erie, Pa., stylist, used only 21 putts, including three from the fringe, for his par busting round. He dropped an eight foot birdie putt on the first hole, chipped in from about 45 feet out for an eagle on the second. He continued winging along in fine fashion, picking up four more birdies including another chip in on No. 11, and never going over par.

Par for the flat, windswept 6,489-yard Lakewood course took a real battering, with 54 of the field of 144 breaking the standards.

Don Fairfield of Casey, Ill., winner of the Pensacola Open Sunday, and Hans Merrell of Mogadore, Ohio, deadlocked for fourth place with 67s.

Nine others were bunched at 68. This group included the pace setter's brother, Jay Hebert, of Sanford, Fla.; National Open champion Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa, and Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, winner of the Tucson and Houston Opens this winter.

Pirates Nip Senators, 4-3

ORLANDO, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Dale Long's three-run homer off Dick Brodowski in the fifth inning led the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-3 victory over Washington today in a battle of the major leagues' cellar clubs.

Long's blast over the rightfield fence followed a single by Dick Cole and a double by Bobby Del Greco. The Pirates had scored a run in the second inning off Brodowski when Bill Hall doubled and Ray Swartz singled.

Solo Homer
Harmon Killebrew slammed a solo homer off Ron Kline in the seventh. Johnny Groh belted a home run, also off Kline, after Jerry Snyder singled in the eighth. Vernon Law worked the first five innings for Pittsburgh and allowed only three scattered singles.

Stokes, Pettit Gain Awards

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Maurice Stokes, rookie of the Rochester Royals, and Bob Pettit, scoring ace of the St. Louis Hawks in the National Basketball Association, were honored today by New York basketball writers.

Stokes was named first winner of the Hy Turkin Award, given to pro basketball's outstanding rookie. Pettit was given the Sam Davis Award as the most valuable player in the NBA.

Colleges
Stokes attended St. Francis (Pa.) College. Pettit is a graduate of Louisiana State University. Both awards will be made at the annual metropolitan basketball writers' dinner Sunday.

Chisox Blank Kansas City, 1-0

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Two Chicago White Sox errors and six Kansas City hits added up to a 1-0 exhibition baseball victory for the Athletics today. One of the Chisox bobbles led to the winning Kansas City run in the fifth inning.

Giants Down Cubs, 5-1

MESA, Ariz., March 15 (AP)—The New York Giants squared their spring series with the Chicago Cubs at one game apiece today, by ringing up a 5-1 victory behind the five-hit pitching of Al Worthington. Johnny McCall and Hoyt Wilhelm, Worthington, working the first four innings, gave the Bruins their lone run, a second inning homer by rookie shortstop Ed Winceniak.

ANALOMINK, an entry in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League, will play its home games on the Clearview School field this season. The club was granted such permission on Wednesday night by the Stroud Union School Board. Failure to find suitable play on the baseball field at Gordon Giffels Field.

Work will progress on schedule once the right kind of clay is procured. The job is supposed to be finished by the time Stroudsburg High opens its Lehigh Valley League baseball schedule.

Nick Patella, former football star at East Stroudsburg High School, was runnerup in the physique division of the "Mr. Virginia Contest" held last Saturday at the Lower Peninsula YMCA, Newport News, Va. The contest was sponsored by the Virginia State AAU Championship. Patella, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Patella, 45 N. Courtland St., was awarded a silver trophy. Thirteen young men were entered in the physique division. Nick is currently a student at Hargrave Military Academy.

Harry Warner, former Pocono High athlete, departed from Allentown Airport at 8:50 a. m. yesterday for Austin, Texas, where the lanky first sacker is scheduled to campaign in the class "AA" Texas League this summer. Ray Steele, pitcher in class "B" of the same league, took off for Columbia, S. C. by train yesterday afternoon from East Stroudsburg. These two youngsters are the only representatives Monroe County will have in professional baseball this season.

Bushkill is hopeful of obtaining a new scoreboard for its field this summer. Bushkill is a member of the Pocono Mountains League. Bushkill players will be measured for their new uniforms next Wednesday, during the course of a regular meeting at the Lantz Store, East Stroudsburg. Yesterday was the final day at the Atlantic City Football Clinic for Gene Martin and George Ockershausen, both of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College; John Kupiec, Stroudsburg; Jack Kist and Dick Forster, East Stroudsburg High.

Forster, head basketball and assistant football and baseball coach at East Stroudsburg High, recently purchased a new automobile, Dorn, Roth, former Lehigh Valley High basketball star, finished the season as the third highest scorer on the Muhlenberg College basketball team. The big center appeared in 25 games, accounted for 111 field goals, converted 67 of 103 foul shots, totaled 289 points and averaged 11.6 tallies a contest.

Bobby Gall, the number two scorer for the Muhlenberg cage machine, has a number of relatives in Monroe County. Bob appeared in 25 games, made good on 153 field goals, converted on 78 of 133 foul shots, tallied 384 points and averaged 15.4 tallies a game. The Pocono Mountains Basketball Association is very anxious to obtain an eighth entry. Any club wishing to fill the vacancy will be readily accepted.

Palmerston's stunning victory over Allentown for the District 11 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association championship has pumped new interest into the post season playoffs as far as this locality is concerned. The Bombers, title holder in the Lehigh Valley League, now face Swyersville on Saturday and hope of going even further. Fountain Hill, king of the Lehigh-Northampton League, has also won the District 11 "B" crown and appears headed for greater things in its division.

I hope this writer never witnesses Joe Louis in action as a wrestler or even in the same ring with a wrestler. It would certainly degrade the truly great former heavyweight champion. Oscar "Ossie" Maecher, Jim Thorpe High basketball coach, recently resigned his position. Maecher, who led Jim Thorpe against Barrett in a District 11 Class "C" playoff three seasons ago, is a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and has a lot of friends in this area. He has been Jim Thorpe's coach for the past 21 years.

One of his earlier stars, Jack Ksarrang, is now playing manager of the Lake Harmony basketball team, a member of the Pocono Mountains League. Bob Mikvy's brilliant performance against Allentown on Wednesday virtually assured the Palmerston center of All-State selection by the Associated Press. The news service will release its All-State selections either late this month or early in April. Mikvy carded the last three points that brought the Bombers from behind to their biggest victory of the current campaign. It was the first loss in 26 games for Allentown.

Six Entries Ready For YMCA Basketball Tournament

Deadline For Entry Receives Extension

SIX TEAMS are poised and ready to launch the Monroe County YMCA Junior Gold Medal Basketball Tournament next Monday, it was revealed last night by Bill McDonnell, director of the post-season basketball highlight.

McDonnell also served notice that the deadline for entering the tournament has been extended from midnight last night until 7 p.m. today, at which time the tournament committee will meet at the YMCA.

The six definite entries are Lloyd's Sporting Goods, Gray's Chevrolet, Monroe Silk, Al Beseker's Diner, Dom and Phil's Diner and Stroudsburg Furnace.

There are vacancies for an unlimited number of entries and it is quite possible that the tournament may not operate unless at least eight squads are registered by 7 p.m. today.

Pairings
The tournament committee will pair the various teams at its scheduled meeting tonight. An entry fee of seven dollars has been set for each team and an age limit of 19 years has been placed upon each player. No high school varsity can enter the tournament intact and no team can campaign under a high school name.

The duration of the tournament depends upon the number of teams entering hostilities.

Logart To Face Ortega

NEW YORK, March 15 (P) — Cuba's Isaac (Kid) Logart and Gaspar (Indian) Ortega, both fast-flying young welterweights, meet in the 10-round main event at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Logart, 22, latest "keed" sensation from Camaguey, Cuba, the third ranked world welterweight challenger, now has won four in a row. Winner in seven of eight bouts in 1955, Logart comes from the home town of former champion Kid Gavilan.

Graduated
Ortega hails from Mexicali, Mexico, and has graduated into the Garden main event because of his spectacular performances in recent semifinals. Now 20, the Mexican flash is an excellent boxer and packs a better-than-average punch. The bout will be televised and broadcast (NBC) at 10 p.m., EST.

Ford V-8's
outsold by 2 to 1
all other
Truck V-8's
combined

Economical performance is the big reason why Ford's V-8 leader!

It takes a FORD to squeeze maximum power out of today's gasoline

Only Ford gives you modern Short Stroke power—V-8 or Six—in every truck! Short Stroke design means up to 53% more power with no increase in engine size

Just one kind of engine can give you all the mileage built into today's gas. And that's a modern Short Stroke engine—the new kind of truck power pioneered by Ford.

Short Stroke engines develop power that used to be possible only with much bigger engines. And Short Stroke engines do it on less gas! The shorter stroke means less piston travel, which means less friction to waste power and gas, and less wear, too. You also get more usable power to work for you at the rear wheels!

New Ford Trucks save you money when you buy! Ford is America's lowest-priced line of V-8 trucks.* And right now your Ford Dealer is offering attractive terms for spring. Call him and find out what a sweet deal you can get!

*Based on a comparison of suggested list prices.

FORD TRUCKS

Ford Trucks Last Longer! Certified by independent insurance actuaries for the ninth consecutive year! Studies of over 10,000,000 current license registrations show that Ford Trucks last up to 9.9% longer than any of the other 4 leading truck makes!

Prefer a SIX?
Ford is the only manufacturer who gives you a Short Stroke Six in the light-duty field. It's the most modern, most efficient Six because it gives you more horsepower per cubic inch than any other Six. You get integral valve guides, free-turn valves and a deep-skirt crankcase for longer, smoother engine operation.
Shown above is the biggest Pickup box in the 1/2-ton field—a new 8-ft. box, available on the Ford Pickup at low extra cost.
